Engineers Week is just around the corner!

Come out and get eWeek started off right at the Opening Ceremony on February 14th at 4pm in the Old Engineering Courtyard. You can enjoy time with some fellow engineering students before heading out for any evening Valentine's Day plans.

There will be food and some small activities, as well as some important announcements for eWeek! Be there to hear about additional opportunities for clubs to earn money with details on the Penny War and Photo Contest. The task for this year's Rube Goldberg competition being held on Saturday, February 22nd will also be announced. If your team would like to step up for the challenge of constructing a machine in a week and win some eWeek points, this is an incredibly fun engineering competition!

We will also announce the point scheme for this year's ESC Food Drive, so stock up on goods to donate during eWeek!

Check the ESC website for the eWeek schedule and events, which should be going up in the next week. Official rules for all clubs events and ESC-hosted events will also be on the website, www.escuofa.com.

WE HOPE TO SEE YOU THIS YEAR AT EWEK!
